Important Information for Buyers

All lots are offered subject to Morton & Eden Ltd.'s Conditions of Business and to reserves.

Estimates are published as a guide only and are subject to review. The actual hammer price of a lot may well be higher or lower than the range of figures given and there are no fixed "starting prices".

A Buyer's Premium of 15% is applicable to all lots in this sale. Excepting lots sold under Temporary Import rules which are marked with the symbol ‡ (see below), the Buyer's Premium is subject to VAT at the standard rate (currently 17½%). Unless otherwise indicated, lots are offered for sale under the auctioneer's margin scheme and VAT on the Buyer's Premium is payable by all buyers.

‡ Lots marked with this symbol have been imported from outside the European Union (EU) to be sold at auction under Temporary Import Rules. When released to buyers within the EU, including the UK, the buyer will become the importer and must pay import VAT at the rate of 5% on the hammer price in addition to the normal 17.5% on the Buyer's Premium. Buyers outside the EU will not be required to pay temporary import VAT provided that satisfactory documentary evidence of exportation is obtained. Please note that this information has been updated to reflect changes in UK legislation introduced on 1 September 2006.

Morton & Eden Ltd. will be pleased to execute bids on behalf of those clients unable to attend the sale in person, subject to our Conditions of Business. All bids must be submitted in good time in writing and lots will always be purchased as cheaply as possible (depending on any other bids received, reserves and competition in the saleroom). This service is offered free of charge.

Morton & Eden Ltd. can supply quotations for the shipping of purchases, including transit insurance and VAT refund administration fees, and will assist in the application for any export licences which may be required. Buyers are reminded that it is their responsibility to comply with UK export regulations and with any local import requirements.

*Illustrated lots are marked with an asterisk.

Payment Instructions

Payment is due in sterling at the conclusion of the sale and before purchases can be released. Please note that we require seven days to clear sterling cheques unless special arrangements have been made in advance of the sale.

We are pleased to accept major credit cards, for which there will be a 3% surcharge on the transaction total. There is no surcharge for payments made by UK debit card.

All overseas buyers are encouraged to make payment in sterling by electronic transfer direct to our Bank, quoting the invoice number:

The English artist George Dawe was commissioned by Alexander I to paint portraits for the War Gallery of 1812 in the Winter Palace. With the assistance of his Russian pupils he completed over 330, and was appointed First Portrait Painter of the Russian Imperial Court in 1828. His work became highly popular and he created a workshop to satisfy a great demand for engravings and copies of his portraits. Both his brother Henry and son-in-law Thomas Wright came from England to assist him and it was Wright who completed a number of works still in progress at the time of George Dawe's death in 1829.

ALEXANDER DOUGLAS was born in Winchburgh, West Lothian in October 1826. After a rudimentary education at the village school he started to work with his uncle, when aged nine, as a miner at Colinsheils colliery. He remained there until 1852, when he visited Edinburgh Castle and enlisted in the Cameron Highlanders. In January 1854 he transferred to the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders who were waiting at Plymouth to embark for Russia. On February 28th he sailed for Russia. He took part in the battle of Alma, and at Balaklava formed a part of the "thin red streak, topped with a line of steel" which forced the Russian Cavalry to retire and culminated in the Charge of the Light Brigade.

A day after the battle Douglas happened to hear Sir Colin Campbell talking to a cavalry officer who was speaking about the brilliant Charge of the Light Brigade. Sir Colin replied "I don't understand your cavalry movements but I can defy the devil with the infantry." He braved the winter in the appalling conditions of the trenches at Sebastopol.

Following the Crimean War he was sent to India. On 31 October 1857 his regiment, together with the 53rd, defeated the mutineers at Kudjwa. He also took part in the second and third relief of Lucknow, and on 5 May Douglas saw his last action at the battle of Bareilly. Following the suppression of the Mutiny he remained with the 93rd in India, leaving the service in 1863.

On returning home he served a year with the Dundee Constabulary and then transferred to the West Lothian Constabulary where he served a further three years until his retirement.

JOHN CHARLES BARBER was born on 12 September 1872 at Stepney. In March 1891 he enlisted in King's Royal Rifle Corps and was posted to the 2nd Battalion in August of the same year. He served with the battalion in Gibraltar and Malta, being promoted to Corporal 3 December 1895 and transferred to the 4th Battalion. In February 1897 he was promoted to Lance Sergeant, in 1900 to Sergeant and subsequently to Colour Sergeant. In December 1901 his battalion embarked for South Africa where they remained until the end of the war. On 6 September 1904 he, along with 311 men of his battalion, was presented with the Queen's South Africa Medal by General Buller. In May 1905 he went on permanent staff assignment to the Rifle Sub-Depot, Woolwich and in October 1909 was awarded his Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, with gratuity (AO 270). In March 1910 he was appointed Warrant Officer (Sergeant Major of the Special Reserve) and in 1911 he received his Coronation Medal (one of only 15 to the Regiment). In September 1913 he became a Supernumerary Sergeant Major attached to the 6th Battalion. In August 1914 he was commissioned as a Quartermaster and Honorary Lieutenant (London Gazette, 14 August 1914), in August 1917 he became Quartermaster and Honorary Captain. In March 1920 he was seconded for duty with the Machine Gun Corps, returning to the 6th Battalion in January 1922. In September 1923 he was posted as Quartermaster and Captain to the 2nd Battalion Royal Berkshire Regiment and retired the following February, subsequently volunteering for duty as a Special Constable, serving until 1932. His death was announced in the August 1957 Army List.

CHARLES THOMAS NOBLE died of wounds 26 July 1916, aged 25 and is buried in the Heilly Station Cemetery, Mericourt-L' Abbe.

The following is taken from the Regimental History, pp 145-46.

"Lieut. Healey, the adjutant, who went forward to assess the situation was "wounded and missing." It was ascertained afterwards that Lieut. Healey was shot through the stomach when quite close to the German trenches. His runner, at Lieut. Healey's request, put him into a shell hole under cover and then returned for assistance. Unfortunately the runner was also hit on the way back and died next day in hospital. The runner, Pte. Noble, was only got in as day was breaking, so that it was by this time impossible to get assistance to Lieut. Healey-a gallant and able officer, who was a great loss to the Battalion" (sold with photocopies of research and photos of his grave.)

Second World War Group to an H.M.S. Hood Casualty, Three: P/JX162437 Hugh Francis Rorrison, Boy 1st Class, Royal Navy; 1939-45 and Atlantic Star, War Medal, in Director of Naval Accounts box of issue, with forwarding slip and Buckingham Palace condolence slip, extremely fine (3) £300-500

HUGH FRANCIS RORRISON joined the Royal Navy as a Boy Sailor in 1938. He was killed in action 24 May 1941 while serving aboard H.M.S. Hood.

The battle cruiser H.M.S. Hood was launched in August 1918 but never saw service in the Great War. At the time she was the largest warship afloat having a displacement of 42,100 tons and a complement of 1,341. In May 1941 H.M.S. Hood was the flagship of Vice Admiral Holland. On 22 May the German battleship Bismarck, accompanied by the 8 inch gun cruiser Prinz Eugen, put to sea from Bergen. The heavy cruisers Norfolk and Suffolk were detailed to watch the Denmark Strait between Iceland and Greenland to prevent the enemy ships from escaping into the Atlantic and harrying the convoys. On the evening of the 23rd they sighted the two ships on a south westerly course along the edge of an icefield. Despite poor visibility the two British cruisers successfully shadowed the enemy until morning when the Hood accompanied by the Prince of Wales, engaged the Bismarck with such good effect that she was seen to be on fire.

Shortly afterwards, when the outcome seemed assured for the two British ships the Bismarck fired a salvo at approximately 23,000 yards range which struck the Hood (probably in the neighbourhood of a magazine), causing her to blow up with a tremendous explosion. Of her complement of 1,341, only one midshipman and two ratings were picked up by one of the escorting destroyers.

The lot is offered with original documentation including a Telegram from Portsmouth Naval Barracks, 26 May 1941, notifying his sister that he is missing, presumed dead; letter of condolence to his sister, 30 May 1941, from the Commodore, Royal Naval Barracks, Portsmouth; Admiralty certificate, 30 June 1941, confirming presumption of death; various letters from the Department Navy Accounts; communications to his parents on enlisting and joining H.M.S. Caledonia; two Christmas cards sent from H.M.S. St George to his brother and sister; photographs, including one of his ship under fire after Oran, with caption on reverse "This is us getting bombed after Oran action by the Ice-Creams;" pieces of cap riband from H.M.S. Caledonia and St George; and a First Holy Communion Certificate, St. Anne's Church, Glasgow, 14 May 1931.

Dunkirk Group to a survivor of the Le Paradis Massacre who was subsequently a Prisoner of War, Five: 5772789 Private William John Carter, Norfolk Regiment:

1939-45 Star, War Medal, Dunkirk Medal 1960, BELGIUM, Federation of the Veterans of King Albert I, Federation of the Veterans of King Leopold III, with Crossed Swords, all unnamed as issued, with original named certificates for the Dunkirk and Federation of the Veterans of King Leopold III medals, mounted for wearing on two separate riband bars, good very fine and better (5) £300-500

WILLIAM (BILL) CARTER was born in Dorking, Surrey in 1920. After a brief spell as a chauffeur in Blechingley he joined the Norfolk regiment in November 1937. After the outbreak of war in 1939 the Norfolks were sent to France, forming part of the BEF, and by May 1940 they were forming the rearguard action towards Dunkirk.

The following is taken from an interview given by Bill Carter to the Dorking Advertiser: September 5 1996:

"For about 28 days we hardly slept, just dozing for a few minutes. We ate what we could, maybe catching an odd chicken. It was strange seeing the tracers from the German bullets coming at me and knowing that there was more to come. On one occasion a couple of nine-inch mortar shells landed in my patch but luckily they didn't explode."

By late May Bill's C Company was surrounded at Le Paradis, in battalion headquarters at Duries farm. "The Germans were coming after us like fiends, hundreds of them, they tried to shoot us out but we wouldn't shift." After fierce resistance C Company surrendered at 5 a.m. on May 27 to SS men from the Death's Head Regiment. Bill and his comrades were taken to a barn where survivors from Duries farm were being held. "The SS officer (Obersturmführer Fritz Knochlein) claimed we'd killed 3,000 Germans and we could see they were angry. He said we'd been using dum dum bullets, which expand on impact causing terrible injuries, and said they would kill us. We hadn't been using these bullets, but it was frightening."

The Norfolks, who included many wounded, were ordered out of the barn. Bill Carter recalled the split second decision which saved his life. "Men were coming out of the barn thick and fast. I saw them going right, so I went left and just scarpered. I had the chance to run and that's what I did. It was more luck than judgement that I got out of there. I must have had someone looking after me. I didn't have confirmation of the massacre until after the war and I was really shocked."

In fact 99 of his comrades in the Royal Norfolk Regiment were marched through a field to a paddock several hundred yards along the road, were forced through a gateway, and as they passed a long wall two heavy machine guns opened fire. All but two of the survivors were killed by revolver and bayonet. Fritz Knochlein was traced and arrested after the war; he was tried for war crimes in Hamburg, convicted and hanged on 28 January 1949.

After a short period of freedom, Bill was recaptured and transported to the POW camp in Lambdorf, Germany. In the autumn of 1940 he was sent to work in a coal mine in Silesia where he stayed for 18 months prior to contracting pneumonia. In 1942 he was moved to work at the lime kilns in Czechoslovakia, where he and other workers risked their lives sabotaging the German war effort by spiking the lime with granite chunks, which would cause malfunctions in processing machines and jam open railway points.

By late 1944 the Germans were retreating and Bill and fellow prisoners were marched across Czechoslovakia and Austria to Nuremberg, facing constant attack from American and Russian aircraft. In the final days of the war Bill was moved yet again; in the confusion managed to escape in a car where he was finally spotted by the crew of an American Sherman tank.

On May 12 1945 he returned to his family home in Nutfield, a shadow of his former self, weighing just 7 stone 8 pounds following his wartime ordeal. After leaving the army in March 1946 until his retirement in 1987 he held a number of driving jobs locally. He died in 2004.

The lot is offered with various documents including a quantity of photographs of the recipient, mostly post war but including three during his time with the Norfolks; prisoner of war postcard sent to his father 30 June 1943; blazer patch; welcome home scroll from the Nutfield War Memorial Committee; Dunkirk Veterans Association Life Membership Certificate and various newspaper articles, including a photocopy of his interview with the Dorking Advertiser.

Second World War and Post War Group, Five: Major Charles Oxley Blakey, Royal Warwickshire Regiment, late Lincolnshire Regiment:

1939-45 and France and Germany Stars, Defence and War Medals, unnamed as issued, General Service Medal, 2 clasps, Cyprus, Canal Zone (Major C. O. Blakey. R. Warwick:), second clasp loose, mounted for wearing, good very fine (5) £300-400

CHARLES OXLEY BLAKEY was born in April 1917. He was mobilised from the T.A. in 1940. He was commissioned Second Lieutenant 28 June in the Royal Warwickshire Regiment, Lieutenant 22 April 1942. In late 1945 he was appointed Deputy Acting Adjutant General CHQ Indian Command. He was made Captain in Nov. 1946, General Staff Officer November 1948. He transferred to the 1st Battalion Royal Lincoln Regiment in November 1950 and was promoted to Major in October 1953; during his service with the regiment he was sent to the Canal Zone. He rejoined the Royal Warwickshire Regiment in May 1956 and saw service in Cyprus. He died in January 1969.

He appears to have been a colourful character. There is a story of him having a name plate on his office door as a staff officer in India with an O.B.E. and an M.C added (neither of which he was entitled to). It is also alleged that when in Cyprus, while President of the Mess Committee, he spirited away bottles of gin for personal consumption, for which he narrowly escaped a Court Martial for misapplication of funds. (Sold with photocopied research and a letter from Brigadier J. K. Chater, Regimental Area Secretary (Warwickshire) the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers, giving service details and relating anecdotes concerning the recipient.)

Lifesaving: A Royal Humane Society Pair: Police Sergeant Clifford Walton Paley, Sussex Police, comprising: Royal Humane Society Medal in silver (P. S. Clifford Walton Paley 4th December 1982) and Police Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, Elizabeth II (Sergt Clifford W. Paley), both in cases of issue, virtually mint state (2) £300-400

Committee of the Royal Humane Society, 3 January 1984: "For having on 4 December 1982, at great personal risk, saved the life of a man from falling from a dangerous height at British Telecom House, Gloucester Place, Brighton."

The following is taken from the Sussex Police account of the events leading to the award of the Royal Humane Society Medal:

"About 8.45 p.m. on Saturday 4th December 1982 a 19 year old youth climbed onto scaffolding surrounding a partially demolished building in Gloucester Place, Brighton. He took up a position approximately 70 feet above ground level and because of an argument with his girlfriend, was in an agitated state and threatening to throw himself off. The Fire Brigade attended but due to a combination of factors were unable to effect a rescue with a turntable ladder. Inspector Judge, Sergeant Paley and Police Constable Coblenz entered the building and by the light of their torches made a hazardous ascent to the sixth floor. They all climbed out onto the scaffolding, which was not fitted with wallboards, handrails or fire points, and was described by a Quantity Surveyor as particularly dangerous after dark. Sergeant Paley positioned himself within four feet of the youth and engaged him in conversation for about 30 minutes. During this time the Sergeant was in danger of being pushed off or falling when the youth repeatedly bounced up and down on the unsupported pole, causing it to move in an alarming fashion.

Eventually the officers between them coaxed the youth back to the relative safety of the building shell where they were able to restrain him and subsequently bring him down to the safety of ground level; during this delicate operation the youth remained agitated and unstable. Throughout the entire incident it was dark, windy and very cold but all three officers showed a complete disregard for their own safety in their efforts to save the young man.

In recognition of their actions the Royal Humane Society has awarded Sergeant Paley with their highest National Award - a silver medal, with bronze medals to Inspector Judge and Constable Coblenz."

The lot is offered with Royal Humane Society scroll, Sussex Police account of the action, various forwarding documents and two photocopied accounts of the action from local Brighton papers.

Herbert Ponting

HERBERT GEORGE PONTING, the second of a family of eight children, was born in Salisbury in 1870 and was educated at Carlisle and Preston. His career began conventionally when he followed his father into banking but this did not prove happy; after four years he left for California, where he turned his hand to fruit-growing and gold-mining. In 1895 he married Mary Elliot (the daughter of Civil War veteran General Washington Lafayette Elliot) but, unfortunately, neither the marriage nor Ponting's business ventures were destined to succeed.

Photography, which had begun as an amateur interest and for which he immediately showed a natural "eye", started to absorb more and more of his time and energy. Soon his highly-acclaimed work won prizes in both State and National competitions and was exhibited at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis leading to his commission, also in 1904, to travel to the East to record the events of the incipient Russo-Japanese War. He was accredited to General Kuroki's 1st Japanese Army when the war started in earnest and his work became known worldwide. In 1905 – by now very much a "camera artist" rather than a mere photographer, and a recipient of the Russo-Japanese War Medal – a selection of his Japanese images was published and he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. Soon afterwards he left his wife and two children for the last time, although refusing a divorce.

During the next three or four years Ponting's work as a camera reporter took him to China, India, Russia and Burma in the East and to Spain and Portugal in Europe, culminating in his receipt of the top award for travel photography at the Dresden International Exhibition of 1909. This distinction no doubt helped him to secure the post as camera artist to Scott's Second Antarctic Expedition, a position which attracted over 100 applicants. He left London aboard the Terra Nova on 1st June 1910, having just taken delivery of the first printed copies of his book on Japanese travel entitled In Lotus-Land.

Ponting using his 'cinematograph' aboard Terra Nova

Ponting's Expedition brief included undertaking moving-picture photography, a new technology with which he was not familiar but which he embraced with enthusiasm. Despite suffering from sea-sickness he contrived to film the bow of the Terra Nova smashing through ice floes as she approached Antarctica (see illustration), footage which he was later to describe as "one of the most thrilling of all the moving pictures of the Expedition".

On arriving at Cape Evans in January 1911, Ponting quickly set to work and some of his most iconic and best-known images were captured in the period before the Polar sunset in April. He, his equipment and two Expedition dogs were nearly lost when killer whales disturbed and broke the ice around them – a highly dangerous episode, the portrayal of which he later re-enacted rather woodenly for another's camera. Expedition members were naturally required to figure in "Ponko's" own pictures, leading to the coining, by Taylor, of the verb to "pont". This was defined as "to pose until nearly frozen, in all sorts of uncomfortable positions". During the long winter months there was processing to undertake and a certain amount of flash work, but Scott's diaries record that Ponting, whose work he admired enormously, was often restless and depressed. Ponting's lantern-slide illustrated lectures on his travels in Japan and elsewhere provided welcome entertainment for all, but it was not until the return of light in the Spring that his spirits truly revived. In October he travelled with the South Pole party for the first few miles, obtaining historic images of Scott's final departure.

After his return to Europe in 1912, Ponting resolved "to devote however many years were required" to the memory of Scott's personality and endeavour. There were exasperating contractual issues to address with publishers and, as time passed, an inevitable diminution in public interest, but Ponting continued to lecture widely using both lantern slides and moving film. King George V, after a private showing of the film in May 1914, expressed his view that "... the story of the Scott Expedition could not be known too widely among the youth of the Nation".

When War came later in the year Ponting applied to both the War Office and the Foreign Office for a position as an official artist. His requests were declined (unfortunately, perhaps, from an historical perspective) and it was made clear that he was felt to be more useful as an ambassador for the Expedition.

Apart from the successful publication of his classic book The Great White South in 1921, the post-war years were hard for Ponting. Still seeking fulfilment as an entrepreneur he embarked on a number of doomed projects, including the marketing of his invention the "PONCO" Unburstable Inner Tube for automobile tyres. Even a re-make of the Antarctic film, made in the early 1930s and entitled 90 Degrees South, failed to cover its high production costs by the time of Ponting's death, in London, on 7 February 1935. The legacy of his photographs, however, is enduring.

The cased pair (and miniatures) ex Bill Fevyer Collection, Spink, 25 November 1998; the silver R.G.S. medal acquired subsequently.

£4,000-6,000

WALTER JOHN MARSH, born in Templeton, New Zealand in 1882, joined the Morning as Assistant Engineer on 12 August 1903, taking part in the second Discovery Relief Expedition leaving from Lyttelton. There were serious concerns that the ice-locked Discovery might have to be abandoned and a second relief ship, the Terra Nova, joined the Morning at Hobart.

In the event, after a month's hard work and a fortuitous ocean swell which helped to crack the pack-ice, the relief ships reached Discovery on 14 February 1904. Two days later the last ice restraining her was blasted away, only for Discovery to become grounded in a gale. A merciful change in the weather finally left her free and the three ships were able to sail for New Zealand.

Marsh's personal impressions of Antarctica are given in his reminiscences, a copy of which is included in the lot. He lost the tips of two fingers as a result of frostbite and a 'seal nip', and engaged in several ski and sledge trips inland. On one of these he acquired a souvenir – a pair of snowshoes left behind by the earlier Norwegian Nordenski Expedition.

Returning to Plymouth with Morning, he was paid off on 18 October 1904 and joined Napier, one of the leading British manufacturers of high quality and performance motor cars. As a designer and test driver he became one of the first men to experience the thrills of Brooklands, the world's first purpose-built car racetrack, opened in 1907. With his English fiancée he attended Scott's wedding at Hampton Court in 1908, returning to New Zealand after his own marriage in 1910.

Marsh declined an invitation to join Scott's Second Expedition but travelled to Lyttelton to see the Terra Nova off, when one of the crew reportedly shouted 'Come on Wally, it's not too late to change your mind!' Later experiences included working as Resident Engineer on the Lower Zambezi River Bridge in the 1930s before finally settling in New Zealand.

The lot is offered with:

Photographic copies of Certificate of Discharge, Continuous Certificate of Discharge, and a personal reference, handwritten by J.D. Morrison, Morning's Chief Engineer (... he is a good engineer, thoroughly well up in his work, sober and reliable...);

Photocopy of a 10-page copyrighted typescript The Release of the Discovery, by W.J. Marsh as told to Edward Gibbons', from which some of the information above is taken; and Photocopy of a newspaper interview to mark Mr. and Mrs. Marsh's Diamond Wedding Anniversary in 1970, with illustration.

A Great War Memorial Plaque in the name of Jesse Handsley, formerly a member of Scott's First Expedition, extremely fine, in card envelope as issued to next-of-kin

£400-600

Able Seaman JESSE HANDSLEY was, like his H.M.S. Ringarooma shipmate Tom Crean, one of several men who volunteered to join Discovery when she was preparing to sail from Port Chalmers, New Zealand in 1902. During the Expedition he accompanied Scott, Evans, Feather, Skelton and Lashly on the sledge journey to explore the Ferrar and Taylor Glaciers, and a peak overlooking the area was named "Mount Handsley" in his honour in 1969. The memorial plaque is known to have belonged to his son and is now offered by descent, while Handsley's silver Polar Medal was sold at Sotheby's on 2 July 1980 (lot 119).

164549 P.O. Jesse Handsley, R.N. died on 3 June 1916 at the age of 39 and was buried at Gibraltar. It may be noted that the name is 'unique' in the C.W.G.C.'s records.

£8,000-12,000

A New Zealander, HAROLD HAMILTON was a graduate of Otago University, joining the Expedition at the age of 26. Stationed at Macquarie Island in the sub-Antarctic zone, his work included botanical, entomological, geological and zoological observation and research.

The lot is offered with:

A 39-page typescript copy of Hamilton's Expedition diary, 7 January – 28 December 1912;

Photocopied extract from Great War roll confirming Hamilton's entitlement to the B.W.M. (only), and photocopied Service Record 1916-19;

Five large portrait photographs of Hamilton on Macquarie Island;

An original copy of Hamilton's Expedition Report Ecological Notes and Illustrations of the Flora of Macquarie Island, Sydney, 1926, with 19 plates and preface by Sir Douglas Mawson (this including the interesting information that the locating of the negatives of the Macquarie Island photographs had to await Frank Hurley's return from Shackleton's Trans-Antarctic Expedition).

O.B.E. (Military): London Gazette, 1 January 1946 (Squadron Leader, R.A.F.V.R);
Mentions in Despatches (2): London Gazette, 1 June 1945 and 14 June 1945.

LEONARD DUNCAN ALBERT HUSSEY, a cheerful and energetic Londoner, came from a family of nine children. He graduated from King's College, University of London, with degrees in psychology, meteorology and anthropology. He gained field experience working in the Sudan as an anthropologist before responding to Shackleton's newspaper advertisement seeking staff for his new South Pole Expedition.

At his interview - according to Hussey - Shackleton looked him up and down before declaring "Yes, you'll do", later adding that he took him because he found Hussey "funny". The two men were to become close; Hussey was one of Shackleton's most reliable and capable lieutenants, whose loyalty to the "Boss" was consistent and unfailing. His celebrated banjo was one of the very few non-essential objects which Shackleton himself retrieved from the stricken Endurance, describing it as "vital mental medicine" for the party. The instrument did indeed provide valuable entertainment during the long months of isolation on Elephant Island, and was eventually brought home bearing the signatures of all the Expedition members. In 1959 Hussey presented it to the National Maritime Museum, at the personal suggestion of H.R.H. The Duke of Edinburgh.

Hussey was effective in his designated rôle of meteorologist and his observations and findings were duly published. During the early phase of the expedition he also helped to care for the dogs (especially "Samson", said to be larger than he was) and regularly accompanied Frank Hurley on sledge journeys. He kept a personal diary and collaborated closely with Shackleton in the preparation of South, first published in 1919; Hussey's own South with Shackleton appeared much later, in 1949.

After the rescue from Elephant Island and the return home, Hussey joined the Royal Garrison Artillery as a 2nd Lieutenant. He saw action at St. Quentin and elsewhere in France and Flanders, later rejoining Shackleton and other Expedition members in Operation Syren on the North Russian Front where their Antarctic skills and experience proved to be of great value. Hussey finished the Great War as a Captain and resumed his studies, having resolved to qualify as a medical doctor.

In 1921 Shackleton invited Hussey to join him on a last Expedition, aboard the Quest, as meteorologist and assistant surgeon. Following Shackleton's death from a heart attack it was Hussey who fulfilled Lady Shackleton's wishes by laying "the Boss" to rest in South Georgia, rather than bringing his remains back to England as had been planned. He was the only 1914 Expedition member present and provided the only music at the funeral – a soft banjo rendition of Brahms' Lullaby.

Hussey began a medical career and became a G.P. in London. In 1940 his home suffered damage in the Blitz and he joined the Royal Air Force as a Medical Officer. Initially stationed in Iceland with the rank of Squadron Leader, he was subsequently posted to R.A.F. Benson and was awarded the O.B.E. as well as receiving two Mentions in Despatches. After the war "Doc" Hussey, as he had come to be known, resumed general practice and also went back to sea for a spell as a ship's surgeon. He became a popular Antarctic lecturer and enjoyed his appointment, in the 1950s, as President of both the London Banjo Club and the Antarctic Club. He died in 1964 at the age of 72, survived by his wife, Grace.

The lot is offered with:

Photocopies of official documents, including London Gazette entries;
Original Board of Trade "Authority to Wear" for the Mercantile Marine Medal and ribbon, dated 7 October 1937;
A substantial file of research, correspondence, newspaper cuttings and reminiscences.
(It may also be noted that Hussey recorded a number of wireless interviews, including several for the BBC, between 1943 and 1956. His recollections of Shackleton's return to Elephant Island in the Yelcho are in the public domain and may be accessed on the internet at <http://americanradioworks.publicradio.org/features/walking/part06/safe.html>).

*A 'BANZARE' 1929-31 Polar Medal, in bronze, crowned head type, 1 clasp Antarctic 1929-30, engraved (RICHARD W. HAMPSHIRE/MPSON.), one or two surface and edge knocks, good very fine £4,000-5,000

RICHARD W. HAMPSHIRE was Fireman aboard Discovery during the ship's first voyage as part of the British - Australian - New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition of 1929-31, led by Sir Douglas Mawson. The ship returned from the Antarctic in 1930 in order to re-coal.

16 '1929-30' bronze medals or clasps for the Expedition were gazetted on 1 May 1934. In Hampson's case it is known that an official duplicate was issued later, with the naming details altered to 'R.W. Hampson Fireman'. The present medal is the original award.

The lot includes a copy of David Yelverton's detailed research regarding the duplicate issue, a photocopy of the London Gazette entry, and the original Admiralty forwarding letter for the medal dated 11 July 1934 and addressed to Hampson at S.S. Sentry.

*An Antarctic Research and Long Service Pair, comprising:

Polar Medal, in bronze, George VI issue, 1 clasp (engraved) Antarctic 1930-39, engraved (CECIL /DOUGLAS/BUCHANAN); Naval Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, George V, Admiral portrait type, with non-swivelling clasp (as issued 1920-30), impressed (271823 C.D. BUCHANAN. C.E.R.A. 2, H.M.S. MARSHAL SOULT.), Polar medal good very fine and with a unique dated clasp, Naval LSGC very fine (2) £5,000-6,000

Engine Room Artificer CECIL BUCHANAN served during 8 Antarctic seasons and 2 winters aboard the William Scoresby (1930-32) and Discovery II (1932-39). Early research projects included whale-marking off the South Shetlands and surveying of the South Georgia coastline, while later voyages involved the circumnavigation of the Antarctic continent and the discovery of new stretches of land.

In 1934 Discovery II was able to deliver Dr. Potaka to Admiral Byrd's Bear of Oakland, thus saving Byrd's Expedition which had been placed in jeopardy by the incapacity of his only medical doctor. In 1936 the ship hit the headlines again following the successful rescue of two stranded aviators, Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon.

For further details see Yelverton, David, The First Environmental Campaign Medal, Medal News, April 1989, May 1989 and (for postscripts) October 1989. The articles take Buchanan's award of one of the last bronze Polar medals as a starting-point, and copies are included in the lot.

Royal Geographical Society, Presentation Medal for Antarctic Discovery, 1913, in bronze (unnamed as issued); the first four mounted for wearing, some surface scuffs but very fine and better; R.G.S. Antarctic medal about extremely fine, in fitted case of issue (5)

£25,000-30,000

A native of County Cork, Petty Officer PATRICK KEOHANE joined Terra Nova from H.M.S. Repulse, having previously served with Lieutenant 'Teddy' Evans on H.M.S. Talbot. On arrival in the Antarctic he quickly established himself as a strong sledge-hauler with a reputation for fearlessness and, more generally, as an efficient, highly versatile and cheerful member of the Expedition. He assisted Oates with the ponies (his own 'James Pigg' becoming something of an Expedition mascot), and was a key figure in numerous sledging parties. Scott's diary makes several references praising his conduct and, incidentally, his cooking, whilst the reminiscences of Dr. Atkinson, Cherry-Garrard and others all commended him highly.

Keohane was selected as a support member for the Expedition's march to the South Pole, setting out at the beginning of November 1911. Famously, Scott procrastinated in deciding who should accompany him in the final assault but in the event it was Keohane, Cherry-Garrard, Atkinson and Wright who turned back at Camp 42, on the Beardmore Glacier at a latitude of 85°, on 21 December. By the time they reached winter quarters at Cape Evans, Scott, Wilson, Bowers, Oates and Evans had attained the Pole and had begun their doomed homeward journey.

In a gallant but fruitless effort, Atkinson and Keohane set off in March 1912 to replenish supplies of rations at the Polar team's return bases, reaching Corner Camp on the 30th of the month (the day after Scott's final diary entry). Keohane also joined in the attempt to contact the Expedition's Northern Party, for whom concern was also growing, but the group was forced to turn back in the face of breaking sea ice. On 30 October, Atkinson, Keohane, Crean and others set off to locate Scott's final camp, which they achieved with little difficulty on 12 November. They collected Wilson's geological specimens, carefully carried to the end, and erected a cairn to the memory of the dead. On their return to Hut Point there was some consolation to be had in the welcome news that the members of the Northern Party were safe.

After the Great War Keohane joined the Coastguard Service and was District Officer for the Isle of Man; he died at Plymouth in 1950. His Polar diary is held at the Scott Polar Research Institute, Cambridge whilst a pocket notebook appertaining to his journeys with Atkinson in 1912 is in the possession of Irish Antarctic Heritage (see extracts above, reproduced by kind permission).

The lot is offered with further copied information and research.

British War and Victory Medals (5455. D.R.N. Blann. D.H. R.N.R.);

Mercantile Marine Medal (Reginald N. Blann);

1939-45 Star, Defence and War Medals (all unnamed as issued);

Hudson's Bay Company H.M.S. Lady Kindersley Rescue Medal in bronze, by Alexander Clark Company of London, First issue, with squirrel above arms of the company in error (instead of a fox), the reverse showing M.S. Lady Kindersley trapped in ice below CRUSHED IN THE ICE WESTERN ARCTIC 31 AUGUST 1924 (engraved R. Blann), this in case of issue (with correct arms); extremely fine or better, the last of the highest rarity (lot) £2,500-3,000

Two sets of medals were struck by the Alexander Clark Company of London to commemorate the rescue. The first set was comprised of one 9 carat gold medal and 45 bronze medals. 25 of the bronze medals were sent from the Hudson's Bay Company Office in London to be given to the crew of the Baychimo. The remainder were sent to the Hudson's Bay Canadian Committee headquarters in Winnipeg for distribution to the other recipients. After the medals had been sent from London a mistake was found to have been made in the engraving of the Hudson's Bay Company Crest. A second, corrected, set were struck and the recipients were asked to return the original medals, at which point they would be sent the second, corrected, medal. 42 of the originals were returned and destroyed, 2 were retained by The Company's museum, the present and A. Woodhouse's example were never returned (the whereabouts of A. Woodhouse's is not known). Blann's second, corrected, medal remains with the Hudson's Bay Company. On receiving his medal Blann received additionally a cheque for £10 (with photocopy of the award document and of a letter from the Company requesting the return of the first medal).

M.S. Lady Kindersley was an auxiliary motor-screw arctic schooner designed and built for service with the Hudson's Bay Company; she was constructed in 1920 and launched in 1921, named in honour of the wife of the then company governor Robert Molesworth Kindersley. She set sail on her final voyage on 28 June 1924. On 3 August the ship arrived at Port Barrow, Alaska. Supercargo Percy Patmore and Second Mate Clifford went ashore to buy reindeer meat and hire Eskimos for cargo work, the ship being moored to the shore ice. While ashore a dense fog rolled in. On their return the following morning they found that the shore ice had broken away in a westerly direction, taking the ship and the balance of the officers and crew along with it.

The following day the ship was caught fast in field ice about seven miles off Port Barrow, still drifting west. Several attempts were made by other ships in the area to get to the Lady Kindersley but ice and weather made this impossible. Patmore kept in daily radio contact with the ship and was advised by them that if she drifted North West past Port Barrow the crew would prepare to abandon her. The weather rapidly deteriorated and the ice increased. On 10 August Patmore himself was stuck in the ice aboard the American vessel Arctic. The next day Arctic had to be abandoned to the ice, which was slowly crushing her.

Patmore chartered another ship in the area, the Teddy Bear, to look for the Lady Kindersley once the weather had cleared on 13 August. For two days there was no sign of the ship. Late on the evening of the 15th Arctic's radio equipment, salvaged from her, had become partially operational; it could receive but not send messages. Messages transmitted from the Lady Kindersley indicated that her Captain was planning to abandon ship by the 18th unless the situation improved. The company had sent their steamer Baychimo to assist with the rescue but given its speed it was likely to arrive far too late.

Patmore also chartered another ship, the U.S.S. Boxer to assist the Teddy Bear in an attempt to rendezvous with the Lady Kindersley. He also procured skin boats, sleds, supplies and Eskimo hunters to assist in the rescue. Several planned attempts to meet the ship and take off her crew were foiled by the weather and it was not until the 31st that Patmore, on the Boxer, finally got to within six miles of the stricken ship. The order was given to abandon ship and after a number of hours the two parties, the rescue party and the ship's crew finally met on the ice some one and a half miles from the Boxer. Everyone was safely back in Port Barrow by 10.30 that evening. The Baychimo arrived too late to assist with the rescue and was instead dispatched to try to free the ship. She was unable to locate her and, on 15 September, the search was abandoned.

REGINALD BLANN subsequently joined the Red Funnel Line and ended up as a Captain. At the beginning of the Second World War he was engaged in ferrying troops to France and Belgium. On 5 May 1941 he was commissioned as a Temporary Lieutenant in the R.N.V.R.

The lot is sold with a Second World War 'Dog Tag' Lt. R. Bland R.N.R., a contemporary newspaper cutting concerning the loss of the Lady Kindersley, and a quantity of photocopied research

GALLANTRY AWARDS

Distinguished Service Cross, George V, reverse engraved (Lieut. J.W. Bell, R.N.R., D.S.C. SS "Thordis" Feb^y 28th. 1915), good very fine; together with a related presentation gold watch and other items (see below for full details) (lot) £3,000-5,000

London Gazette: 19 March 1915:

Lieutenant John William Bell, Royal Naval Reserve, of the steamship "Thordis" for his gallant and spirited conduct in ramming a German submarine, which had fired a torpedo at the "Thordis", on the 28th February 1915.

JOHN WILLIAM BELL of the S.S. Thordis became the first captain of a merchant vessel to successfully engage a German submarine on 28 February 1915. Described at the time as a 'reticent hero' he received a number of public accolades, was appointed an honorary Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve (in addition to the award of his D.S.C. from the hands of the King), and was widely celebrated in the popular Press.

The 501-ton Thordis was built in 1904 and had only just been purchased from her former Norwegian owners at the time of the incident. With her complement of 12 hands and cargo of coal bound for Plymouth, she was 8 or 10 miles off Beachy Head at about 9.30 am on the morning of Sunday 28th February when a periscope was sighted. Bell's later deposition, made to Customs at Weymouth, read:

'... I observed periscope of submarine on starboard bow. I immediately ordered all hands on deck in case of emergency. I then observed submarine pass across our bow and on to our port beam, where it took up a position 30 to 40 yards off. Shortly after this I noticed the wake of torpedo on my starboard beam. I then put my helm hard over to starboard and ran over periscope, when I and all the crew heard and felt crash under bottom. I did not see submarine after, but saw oil floating on water. I then proceeded on voyage.'

Unknown to Bell, the German submarine menace had induced the publication The Syren and Shipping to offer to the first British merchant captain and crew to sink one a £500 reward – a bounty which had been swelled by further covenants from its readers to £660. This was presented by Sir Charles Johnston, Lord Mayor of London, at a reception at the Mansion House on 12 April, and there was also a reward of £200 from the Admiralty.

The lot is sold with the following artefacts and documents (see also the following lot):

A Presentation Gold Hunter-cased Stopwatch, 18 ct. fine, engraved with Bell's initials in monogram, name and presentation inscription from the owners of S.S. Thordis (the watch cased, and also with relating insurance documents);

The lot is sold with a substantial folder of mainly photocopied research but also with an original press cutting of his obituary in the Morning Post.

Special Operations Executive Order of Orange Nassau, Order of Leopold II and American Medal of Freedom Group, Nine: Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Iver Dobson, Head of the Netherlands Section S.O.E. from 1944 following Operation Englandspiel, formerly Communications Officer T Section (Belgium) and late MI6:

France and Germany Star, Defence and War Medal, all unnamed as issued; NETHERLANDS, Order of Orange Nassau, Military Division, Officer's breast badge, in silver-gilt and enamels; BELGIUM, Order of Leopold II, Officer's breast badge, in silver-gilt (enamelled centre lacking); UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Medal of Freedom with Bronze Palm; BELGIUM, Medal of Resistance; War Commemorative; NETHERLANDS, Decoration for Peace and Order, the first six mounted for wearing, the other three mounted on a separate bar, very fine or better (9) £5,000-7,000

Order of Orange Nassau, London Gazette: 23 May 1947. Medal of Freedom with Bronze Palm, London Gazette: 18 July 1947. Order of Leopold II, London Gazette: 17 September 1948.

Translation of the citation for the Order of Orange Nassau:

"As head of the Dutch section of the Special Operations Executive from March 1944 to May 1945, Lt-Colonel Dobson displayed great devotion to duty and meritorious service in the field connected with the Armed Resistance Forces struggle and in the liberation of the Netherlands.

Lt-Colonel Dobson's outstanding ability when working as Operations Organiser greatly assisted the Allied Forces advancement. Through his untiring efforts, determination and leadership he enabled many missions to be successfully achieved."

Citation for Medal of Freedom with Bronze Palm:

"Lieutenant Colonel Richard Iver Dobson, British Army, for exceptionally meritorious achievement which aided the United States in the prosecution of the war against the enemy in Continental Europe from 26 February 1944 to 6 May 1945. Lieutenant Colonel Dobson displayed outstanding executive ability, initiative, and completed devotion to duty while assigned to a special mission which played an important part in the support of the Allied Expeditionary Force operations in Europe and in the liberation of the Netherlands. Lieutenant Colonel Dobson's wholehearted spirit of cooperation, his unfailing tact, and his deep fund of military knowledge reflect high credit upon him and the Allied Armed Forces."

Citation for the Order of Leopold II:

"In recognition of services rendered to Belgium."

The following letter from Paul Bihin, Administrateur de la Sûreté de l' Etat, 2 August 1946, explains the reasons for the award:

"Lt. Colonel Richard Dobson, attached to the British Special Services, has cooperated with the Belgian section of this organisation since February 12 1941 as Interpreter and conducting officer, he was later Briefing Officer and Operating Officer. He is one of the British officers with the longest records of service in the Belgian section. His thorough knowledge of Belgium and its two national languages enabled him to render invaluable services in the "underground" work in occupied territory."

RICHARD IVER DOBSON was born in Antwerp 12 December 1906; his father was a marine engineer. At the beginning of the Second World War he was working with MI6. In February 1941 he was employed with T section as an interpreter. On 19 April he was commissioned Second Lieutenant on the General List without Army pay and allowances. He continued to work for T section in various roles.

The SOE's Dutch organisation was penetrated by German counter-espionage as early as 1942 and continued under German control. "Clandestine" radio transmissions from the Netherlands fed the British false information, leading to the capture and death of most of the British agents dropped into the Netherlands. In the early spring of 1944 London made a clean sweep of the Netherlands operation. Major Seymour Bingham, chief of the SOE Dutch Section was relieved of his post and sent to the Far East. He was succeeded by Dobson, who soon reorganised the Section and established more cordial relations with MVT. Major Griskes head of German counter espionage in the Netherlands decided to call off Englandspiel and sent a final signal to London:

"To Messrs Blunt, Bingham and Successors Ltd. You are trying to make business in the Netherlands without our assistance; we think this rather unfair in view of our long and successful cooperation as your sole agent, but never mind whenever you will come to pay a visit to the continent you may be assured that you will be received with same care and result as all those you sent us before, so long."

The reorganisation of the Dutch Section was successful and Dobson remained in charge to the end of the war, widely respected by those who worked with him in both Belgium and the Netherlands.

The lot is offered with the following original documentation: document of appointment, warrant, statutes, in both Dutch and English translation of citation for the Order of Orange Nassau; copy of General Orders Headquarters US Forces, European Theater 29 May 1946 announcing the award of the Medal of Freedom with forwarding letter and citation; warrant for the Order of Leopold II, letter of approval from the War Office and congratulatory letter from General Ganshof van der Meersch; signed letter from Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands recommending him to all Dutch organisations 11 May 1945; orange silk parachute with all the names of the Dutch agents printed on it; copy of message from Queen Wilhelmina with a forwarding letter from Prince Bernhard's secretary; Order of the Day for the Secret Army 18 January 1945; Dobson's pass from the Ministry of Belgian National Defence, signed by General Marissal 5 February 1944; menu for the Milltown Christmas dinner 1943; letter from the War Office on the relinquishing of his commission 19 April 1946; birth certificate; Belgian Association of Parachutist Agents membership card for 1957; letter from the Antwerp Branch of the British Legion making him an Honourary Vice President by virtue of his past presidency of the branch. Also included are various photocopied research papers and recent correspondence.

A Fine French Resistance Group of Four awarded to Madame Marguerite di Giacomo, Free French Corps, who sheltered and delivered over 30 Allied Airmen to safety:

FRANCE, Croix de Guerre 1939 avec Etoile de Bronze; Cross of the Combatant Volunteer of the Resistance; GREAT BRITAIN, King's Medal for Courage in the Cause of Freedom; UNITED STATES, Medal of Freedom with Bronze Palm, all unnamed as issued, last two in cases of issue, good very fine (4) £6,000-8,000

Croix de Guerre 1939 avec Etoile de Bronze, 17 May 1945. Confirmed 13 November 1945.

The following is a translation of the original citation:

"For sheltering and escorting more than 30 crashed allied airmen in France during the course of the German occupation and for crossing the enemy lines in August 1944 with six English, Australian and American airmen and bought them back to the allied lines safe and well."

Cross of the Combatant Volunteer of the Resistance (9477) presented 13 July 1955 (with photocopy of the identity card issued with it).

Kings Medal for Courage in the Cause of Freedom, presented at the British Embassy Paris, 16 November 1946.

"Madame di Giacomo sheltered at least 36 Allied evaders; she fed them, and cared for them in every possible way until she was able to arrange for their evacuation. She also provided false papers and identity cards. Although she has a young daughter Madame di Giacomo's devotion to the Allied Cause was such that she not only housed Allied evaders, but also did convoy work, and in August 1944 crossed the German lines with six evaders whom she guided to safety."

Madame di Giacomo was, at all times, an inspiration to those with whom she came in touch; she showed a complete disregard for her own safety and a fine patriotic spirit."

Medal of Freedom with Bronze Palm, presented 8 February 1947.

"Marguerite Di Giacomo, French Civilian, for exceptionally meritorious achievement which aided the United States in the prosecution of the war against the enemy in Continental Europe, from December 1943 to August 1944. She distinguished herself by her great courage, ingenuity, and determination in the performance of hazardous missions. Completely disregarding her personal safety she assisted directly in the evasion of thirty-eight Allied airmen, and, through her unselfish devotion to the Allied cause contributed materially to the success of the war effort, thereby meriting the praise and recognition of the United States of America."

The lot is offered with the following original documentation:

A Second World War French Normandy Landings Croix de Guerre Group, Five: 210538 Lieutenant Keith McDonell, 53rd Reconnaissance Regiment, Royal Armoured Corps:

1939-45 and France and Germany Stars, Defence Medal, War Medal, with oak leaf for Mention in Despatches, FRANCE, Croix de Guerre 1939, mounted for wearing, silver star on Croix de Guerre lacking, about extremely fine (5) £450-500

Mention in Despatches: London Gazette, 10 May 1945: "In recognition of gallant and distinguished services in North West Europe." (Sold with framed and glazed certificate).

Croix de Guerre avec Etoile d' Argent, "Campagnes pour la libération de la France (Juin-Décembre 1944), Décision Mo. 589, 3 Avril 1945. (Sold with framed certificate).

Regimental citation, 12 December 1944.

"On 19 Aug. 1944, Lieut. McDonell was commanding a Reconnaissance Patrol consisting of one Armoured and two Light Reconnaissance Cars. Near La Hougette (1733), about two miles south-east of Falaise the Armoured Car which had been covering the leading Reconnaissance Car was fired on by a Tiger Tank and set on fire. Lieut. McDonell, who was in the rear Car fired smoke to cover the crew out of the Armoured Car and reversed away. At this moment his car was fired on at point blank range by a second Tiger Tank which was lying up camouflaged amongst some houses beside the road. The shot hit the turret and the Gunner-Operator was killed instantly. Lieut. McDonell and his Driver jumped out and evading enemy infantry who were around ran to hide in a small nearby stream, Lieut. McDonell killing with his pistol an enemy who stood in the way. Although surrounded by enemy infantry, Lieut. McDonell and his driver remained in the water under a little bridge from 1200 to 2000 hours during which time enemy Tanks crossed and re-crossed it without their being spotted. They had almost immediately been joined by the Gunner-Operator of the burnt out armoured car who was badly wounded in the leg. After dark and with the assistance of local inhabitants they came out of hiding and between them carried the wounded man about 3 miles to a farm not far from the British lines. Lieut. McDonell then led his driver back to their Squadron, and though suffering from exposure and shock with a damaged car insisted on arranging for a party to pick up the wounded man before having his injuries attended to. Lieut. McDonell's leadership, resourcefulness and determination were of a high order and responsible for the extrication of his party from an exceptionally dangerous situation."

A Second World War Escaper's Military Medal Group, Four: Sapper John Wallace, Corps of Royal Engineers, late Cameronians:

Military Medal, George VI type 1 (14621181 Sapr. J. Wallace. R.E.), 1939-45 Star, Italy Star and War Medal, extremely fine (6) £1,200-1,500

M.M.: London Gazette: 26 July 1945:

"Captured on 18 Mar. 1944 during fighting on the Anzio front, Wallace was imprisoned in Laterina (Camp 82). During Jun. 44 when the camp was being evacuated by the retreating Germans, Wallace hid for 4½ hours beneath a bed. Although he became cramped because of the restricted space, he did not move, and in spite of the Germans' rigorous searches he was not discovered. After negotiating several wire fences, he bluffed his way past two German sentries, swam a river and then made his way south with two other escapers, meeting a South African unit on 4 July 44 near Arezzo. This was a fine solo escape by a private soldier."

The lot is offered with two related cap badges and a photograph of the recipient (illustrated).

Second World War Distinguished Service Medal Group awarded for Norway, Five: EX. 548 Temporary Lieutenant Vincent Andrew Davidson, Royal Marines:

Distinguished Service Medal, George VI type 1 (EX. 548 V. A. Davidson. A/Cpl. R.M.), 1939-45 and Africa Stars, War and Defence Medals, mounted for wearing, good very fine (5) £1,600-1,800

Distinguished Service Medal, London Gazette: 4 October 1940.

"For gallantry and devotion to duty in operations in Norway."

SECOND LIEUTENANT VINCENT ANDREW DAVIDSON was born at Altrincham, Cheshire on 3 September 1918 and was working as a salesman when he joined the Royal Naval Special Reserve on 25 July 1939. A Roman Catholic, he was on enlistment found to be 5 feet 9½ inches tall with black hair, hazel eyes and a sallow complexion. Transferring to the Royal Marines on 10 October, he was appointed a Lance Corporal on 1 December.

He participated in Operation 'Primrose' (Norway) as part of 21st Royal Marine Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, Royal Marines which consisted of six officers and 112 other ranks that left Rosyth on 15 April with 8 pom poms bound for Andalsnes aboard H.M.S.'s Bittern and Flamingo. The battery was soon under attack by German bombers and, on 20 April, the C.O., Major Beasley, was wounded and taken to hospital. Bombing continued with incendiaries and high explosives. The battery was evacuated on 29 April, their guns having their locks removed and destroyed before being abandoned. Ten D.S.M's were awarded for Operation 'Primrose', four to Royal Marines.

Davidson was appointed an Acting Corporal, on 21 May, following his return from Norway and a Temporary Sergeant on 21 May 1940. On 26 March 1944 he was commissioned as a Temporary Second Lieutenant and still held this rank when he was demobbed in January 1946.

Accompanying the medals is a quantity of original and copied documents including Davidson's identity card with photograph showing him wearing the D.S.M. ribbon, his Record of Service, 21st Royal Marine Light Anti-Aircraft Battery War Diary for Operation 'Primrose', and a group photograph.

Second World War Distinguished Flying Cross Group, Four: 17470 Pilot Officer John Martin Denton, 207 Squadron, R.A.F.V.R.:

Distinguished Flying Cross, reverse dated 1944, privately engraved (Pilot officer John Martin Denton 17400 R.A.F.V.R. 207 Squadron); 1939-45 and Air Crew Europe Stars, War Medal, first cased, with related miniature, very fine or better, sold with photocopied research (4) £1,000-1,200

Distinguished Flying Cross, London Gazette: 19 September 1944.

The following is taken from the official recommendation:

"This officer has been on 25 successful attacks against enemy targets including 5 on Berlin. He has proved himself to be a keen reliable gunner and a worthy member of his crew. On one occasion when attacking Berlin he was jointly shooting down an Me. 110 which made a determined attack against his aircraft.

He has displayed outstanding keenness at all times and has been a decided asset to his Captain. This keenness has not only been confined to his operational activities; he has displayed an energetic interest in the training of other members of his Section."

An Immediate Italian Theatre Military Cross and Bar Group, Five: 1838421 Major Leslie Stuart Callf, Royal West Kent Regiment, attached to No. 9 Commando:

Military Cross, unnamed as issued, reverse dated 1944 with bar for second award, this also dated 1944;
 1939-45 and Italy Star, Defence and War Medals, all unnamed as issued, good very fine, only 10 awards of the Military Cross and Bar to Commandos (6) £14,000-18,000

Military Cross, London Gazette: 20 July 1944 (Immediate):

"(Map Ref. Italy 1/25,000 Sheet 158 IV SE) On 2nd March 1944 the troop under Command of Capt Callf was ordered to clear a wadi in square 8230 which has been occupied by the Boche, and which threatened the maintenance of the forward position of the unit which occupied this particular part of the line.

Although the enemy held this wadi in considerable strength, particularly the surrounding high ground which dominated the whole area, Capt Callf led his troop into a most determined assault which drove the Boche completely out of his positions, thereby closing a dangerous gap in our own lines. As a result of this action it was officially reported that enemy casualties were 23 prisoners of war and 25 killed, these figures being approximately twice the strength of the whole of Capt. Callf's Troop.

It is considered that the success of this action was almost entirely due to this officer's most courageous and determined leadership, as the action was carried out approximately six hours after the unit had disembarked in the Anzio beach-head and before he had any opportunity to carry out a reconnaissance. What Capt. Callf was able to do was done under heavy enemy fire, and it was chiefly due to his personal courage and disregard for his own safety while doing the reconnaissance, and to his outstanding leadership and determination during the attack, that his troop was able to carry out a difficult task on ground which it had never seen or operated on before. Throughout the action, this officer's gallant and courageous conduct was an example and inspiration to his men, and he displayed the finest quality of a first class officer."

Bar to Military Cross, London Gazette: 21 September 1944 (Immediate).

"Captain Callf has served with this unit during the whole period it has operated in Italy since November 1943 and has taken part in all actions which the unit has fought.

Throughout all actions this officer has shown outstanding powers of leadership and fighting ability, and his personal courage and disregard for danger have always been of the highest order. During a landing carried out by the unit behind the enemy lines on the Garigliano (Map Ref. Italy 1/25,000 Sh 171-1 south west Force Del Garigliano (780932)) on 29-30 December 1943, Captain Callf led his troop through a minefield to reconnoitre advanced positions from which the remainder of the unit could subsequently advance. Although it was night and mines could not be detected or lifted, Captain Callf personally selected an area by means of trial and error, in which the unit could form up.

During an attack by the unit at Monte Faita (Map. Ref. Italy 1/50,000 Sh No. 160 II square 8503) on night 2nd-3rd February 1944, Captain Callf commanded the leading troop and although 50% casualties of all ranks were suffered from enemy artillery and mortar fire he continued to lead his troop in the attack until the final objective was captured. During the subsequent withdrawal this officer organised an effective rearguard which prevented the considerably depleted main force from being overwhelmed by a counter-attack. During operations in the Anzio beach-head from 2nd-26th March 1944, Captain Callf at all times lead his troops in a succession of actions, the success of which were almost entirely due to his outstanding courage leadership and determination. Captain Callf's military character is of the highest order, his gallant efficient and courageous conduct in action has at all times been an inspiration and example to men under his command, and he has always displayed the finest qualities of a first class officer."

Negotiating for bread in Italy

LESLIE STUART CALLF was born in Seaford, Sussex in December 1915 and was educated at Glendale College, Westcliffe-on-Sea, where he kept wicket for Essex Schools, established records for the 400 yards, and later taught physical education.

When the war broke out he joined the Royal West Kent Regiment where he was commissioned as a Lieutenant in 1940. He was one of the first of many volunteers to apply to join the Commandos on their formation, and became one of the few to be accepted. He served in command of 5 Troop No 9 Commando throughout the Italian campaign. In 1944 he was transferred to Greece, where his regiment was sent to restore order in the insurrection which followed the German withdrawal.

After the war he returned to Seaford. He trained with the Royal Horticultural Society and then started his own nursery. He qualified for a Master's Certificate in yachting and for 19 years he taught navigation at Newhaven College of Further Education, instructing more than a thousand students. He also sailed in the Fastnet race. He was also a tennis player, winning numerous trophies in both singles and doubles.

In retirement he was a regular attender at Commando reunions and in 1987 he became President of the Commando Association. He also made regular pilgrimages to Italy; in 1984 he placed a Memorial Plaque on a tree at Faïto and in 1985, with three men from his former troop, he built a cairn at Mount Ornito (10 miles south of Cassino) to commemorate the battle in which nine of his comrades died. It took four days and involved moving 25 tons of rock. He died in 1994.

The lot is offered with a substantial archive, including:

Conditions of Business for Buyers

1. Introduction

(a) The contractual relationship of Morton & Eden Ltd. and Sellers with prospective Buyers is governed by:-
(i) these Conditions of Business for Buyers;
(ii) the Conditions of Business for Sellers displayed in the saleroom and available from Morton & Eden Ltd.;
(iii) Morton & Eden Ltd.'s Authenticity Guarantee;
(iv) any additional notices and terms printed in the sale catalogue, in each case as amended by any saleroom notice or auctioneer's announcement.

(b) As auctioneer, Morton & Eden Ltd. acts as agent for the Seller. Occasionally, Morton & Eden Ltd. may own or have a financial interest in a lot.

2. Definitions

"Bidder" is any person making, attempting or considering making a bid, including Buyers;
"Buyer" is the person who makes the highest bid or offer accepted by the auctioneer, including a Buyer's principal when bidding as agent;
"Seller" is the person offering a lot for sale, including their agent, or executors;
"M&E" means Morton & Eden Ltd., auctioneers, 45 Maddox Street, London W1S 2PE, company number 4198353.
"Buyer's Expenses" are any costs or expenses due to Morton & Eden Ltd. from the Buyer;
"Buyer's Premium" is the commission payable by the Buyer on the Hammer Price at the rates set out in the Guide for Prospective Buyers;
"Hammer Price" is the highest bid for the Property accepted by the auctioneer at the auction or the post auction sale price;
"Purchase Price" is the Hammer Price plus applicable Buyer's Premium and Buyer's Expenses;
"Reserve Price" (where applicable) is the minimum Hammer Price at which the Seller has agreed to sell a lot.

The Buyer's Premium, Buyer's Expenses and Hammer Price are subject to VAT, where applicable.

3. Examination of Lots

(a) M&E's knowledge of lots is partly dependent on information provided by the Seller and M&E is unable to exercise exhaustive due diligence on each lot. Each lot is available for examination before sale. Bidders are responsible for carrying out examinations and research before sale to satisfy themselves over the condition of lots and accuracy of descriptions.

(b) All oral and/or written information provided to Bidders relating to lots, including descriptions in the catalogue, condition reports or elsewhere are statements of M&E's opinion and not representations of fact. Estimates may not be relied on as a prediction of the selling price or value of the lot and may be revised from time to time at M&E's absolute discretion.

4. Exclusions and limitations of liability to Buyers

(a) M&E shall refund the Purchase Price to the Buyer in circumstances where it deems that the lot is a Counterfeit, subject to the terms of M&E's Authenticity Guarantee.

(b) Subject to Condition 4(a), neither M&E nor the Seller:-
(i) is liable for any errors or omissions in any oral or written information provided to Bidders by M&E, whether negligent or otherwise;
(ii) gives any guarantee or warranty to Bidders and any implied warranties and conditions are excluded (save in so far as such obligations cannot be excluded by English law), other than the express warranties given by the Seller to the Buyer (for which the Seller is solely responsible) under the Conditions of Business for Sellers;
(iii) accepts responsibility to Bidders for acts or omissions (whether negligent or otherwise) by M&E in connection with the conduct of auctions or for any matter relating to the sale of any lot.

(c) Without prejudice to Condition 4(b), any claim against M&E and/or the Seller by a Bidder is limited to the Purchase Price for the relevant lot. Neither M&E nor the Seller shall be liable for any indirect or consequential losses.

(d) Nothing in Condition 4 shall exclude or limit the liability of M&E or the Seller for death or personal injury caused by the negligent acts or omissions of M&E or the Seller.

5. Bidding at Auction

(a) M&E has absolute discretion to refuse admission to the auction. Before sale, Bidders must complete a Registration Form and supply such information and references as M&E requires. Bidders are personally liable for their bid and are jointly and severally liable with their principal, if bidding as agent (in which case M&E's prior and express consent must be obtained).

(b) M&E advises Bidders to attend the auction, but M&E will endeavour to execute absentee written bids provided that they are, in M&E's opinion, received in sufficient time and in legible form.
(c) When available, written and telephone bidding is offered as a free service at the Bidder's risk and subject to M&E's other commitments; M&E is therefore not liable for failure to execute such bids. Telephone bidding may be recorded.

6. Import, Export and Copyright Restrictions

M&E and the Seller make no representations or warranties as to whether any lot is subject to import, export or copyright restrictions. It is the Buyer's sole responsibility to obtain any copyright clearance or any necessary import, export or other licence required by law, including licenses required under the Convention on the International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES).

7. Conduct of the Auction

(a) The auctioneer has discretion to refuse bids, withdraw or re-offer lots for sale (including after the fall of the hammer) if (s)he believes that there may be an error or dispute, and may also take such other action as (s)he reasonably deems necessary.

(b) The auctioneer will commence and advance the bidding in such increments as (s)he considers appropriate and is entitled to place bids on the Seller's behalf up to the Reserve Price for the lot, where applicable.

(c) Subject to Condition 7(a), the contract between the Buyer and the Seller is concluded on the striking of the auctioneer's hammer.

(d) Any post-auction sale of lots shall incorporate these Conditions of Business.

8. Payment and Collection

(a) Unless otherwise agreed in advance, payment of the Purchase Price is due in pounds sterling immediately after the auction (the "Payment Date").

(b) Title in a lot will not pass to the Buyer until M&E has received the Purchase Price in cleared funds. M&E will generally not release a lot to a Buyer before payment. Earlier release shall not affect passing of title or the Buyer's obligation to pay the Purchase Price, as above.

(c) The refusal of any licence or permit required by law, as outlined in Condition 6, shall not affect the Buyer's obligation to pay for the lot, as per Condition 8(a).

(d) The Buyer must arrange collection of lots within 10 working days of the auction. Purchased lots are at the Buyer's risk from the earlier of (i) collection or (ii) 10 working days after the auction. Until risk passes, M&E will compensate the Buyer for any loss or damage to the lot up to a maximum of the Purchase Price actually paid by the Buyer. M&E's assumption of risk is subject to the exclusions detailed in Condition 5(d) of the Conditions of Business for Sellers.

(e) All packing and handling of lots is at the Buyer's risk. M&E will not be liable for any acts or omissions of third party packers or shippers.

9. Remedies for non-payment

Without prejudice to any rights that the Seller may have, if the Buyer without prior agreement fails to make payment for the lot within 5 working days of the auction, M&E may in its sole discretion exercise 1 or more of the following remedies:-

(a) store the lot at its premises or elsewhere at the Buyer's sole risk and expense;

(b) cancel the sale of the lot;

(c) set off any amounts owed to the Buyer by M&E against any amounts owed to M&E by the Buyer for the lot;

- (d) reject future bids from the Buyer;
- (e) charge interest at 4% per annum above Lloyds TSB Bank plc Base Rate from the Payment Date to the date that the Purchase Price is received in cleared funds;
- (f) re-sell the lot by auction or privately, with estimates and reserves at M&E's discretion, in which case the Buyer will be liable for any shortfall between the original Purchase Price and the amount achieved on re-sale, including all costs incurred in such re-sale;
- (g) Exercise a lien over any Buyer's Property in M&E's possession, applying the sale proceeds to any amounts owed by the Buyer to M&E. M&E shall give the Buyer 14 days written notice before exercising such lien;
- (h) commence legal proceedings to recover the Purchase Price for the lot, plus interest and legal costs;
- (i) disclose the Buyer's details to the Seller to enable the Seller to commence legal proceedings.

10. Failure to collect purchases

(a) If the Buyer pays the Purchase Price but does not collect the lot within 20 working days of the auction, the lot will be stored at the Buyer's expense and risk at M&E's premises or in independent storage.

(b) If a lot is paid for but uncollected within 6 months of the auction, following 60 days written notice to the Buyer, M&E will re-sell the lot by auction or privately, with estimates and reserves at M&E's discretion. The sale proceeds, less all M&E's costs, will be forfeited unless collected by the Buyer within 2 years of the original auction.

11. Data Protection

(a) M&E will use information supplied by Bidders or otherwise obtained lawfully by M&E for the provision of auction related services, client administration, marketing and as otherwise required by law.

(b) By agreeing to these Conditions of Business, the Bidder agrees to the processing of their personal information and to the disclosure of such information to third parties world-wide for the purposes outlined in Condition 11(a) and to Sellers as per Condition 9(i).

12. Miscellaneous

(a) All images of lots, catalogue descriptions and all other materials produced by M&E are the copyright of M&E.

(b) These Conditions of Business are not assignable by any Buyer without M&E's prior written consent, but are binding on Bidders' successors, assigns and representatives.

(c) The materials listed in Condition 1(a) set out the entire agreement between the parties.

(d) If any part of these Conditions of Business be held unenforceable, the remaining parts shall remain in full force and effect.

(e) These Conditions of Business shall be interpreted in accordance with English Law, under the exclusive jurisdiction of the English Courts, in favour of M&E.

Morton & Eden Ltd.'s Authenticity Guarantee

If Morton & Eden Ltd. sells an item of Property which is later shown to be a "Counterfeit", subject to the terms below Morton & Eden Ltd. will rescind the sale and refund the Buyer the total amount paid by the Buyer to Morton & Eden Ltd. for that Property, up to a maximum of the Purchase Price.

The Guarantee lasts for two (2) years after the date of the relevant auction, is for the benefit of the Buyer only and is non-transferable.

"Counterfeit" means an item of Property that in Morton & Eden Ltd.'s reasonable opinion is an imitation created with the intent to deceive over the authorship, origin, date, age, period, culture or source, where the correct description of such matters is not included in the catalogue description for the Property.

Property shall not be considered Counterfeit solely because of any damage and/or restoration and/or modification work (including, but not limited to, traces of mounting, tooling or repatinating).

Please note that this Guarantee does not apply if either:-

(i) the catalogue description was in accordance with the generally accepted opinions of scholars and experts at the date of the sale, or the catalogue description indicated that there was a conflict of such opinions; or

(ii) the only method of establishing at the date of the sale that the item was a Counterfeit would have been by means of processes not then generally available or accepted, unreasonably expensive or impractical; or likely to have caused damage to or loss in value to the Property (in Morton & Eden Ltd.'s reasonable opinion); or

(iii) there has been no material loss in value of the Property from its value had it accorded with its catalogue description.

To claim under this Guarantee, the Buyer must:-

(i) notify Morton & Eden Ltd. in writing within one (1) month of receiving any information that causes the Buyer to question the authenticity or attribution of the Property, specifying the lot number, date of the auction at which it was purchased and the reasons why it is believed to be Counterfeit; and

(ii) return the Property to Morton & Eden Ltd. in the same condition as at the date of sale and be able to transfer good title in the Property, free from any third party claims arising after the date of the sale.

Morton & Eden Ltd. has discretion to waive any of the above requirements. Morton & Eden Ltd. may require the Buyer to obtain at the Buyer's cost the reports of two independent and recognised experts in the relevant field and acceptable to Morton & Eden Ltd. Morton & Eden Ltd. shall not be bound by any reports produced by the Buyer, and reserves the right to seek additional expert advice at its own expense. In the event Morton & Eden Ltd. decides to rescind the sale under this Guarantee, it may refund to the Buyer the reasonable costs of up to two mutually approved independent expert reports, provided always that the costs of such reports have been approved in advance and in writing by Morton & Eden Ltd.
